

As Surely As Winter Turns To Spring....

Cold nights and warm days signal that it's maple syrup season and the perfect time to plan a trip to St. Jacobs Country. At St. Jacobs Farmers' Market (Thurs. & Sat. year round), local maple products are available for sale and you can catch a horse-drawn tour to a sugar bush to see how maple syrup is made. (Schedule: www.stjacobshorsedrawntours.com)

The Farmers' Market is Canada's largest agricultural market and renowned for its fresh local foods, international delicacies and a large quality flea market. The surrounding Market District is a bargain hunter's paradise! Snag deals on top brands at The Outlets and see a LEGO display by the Ontario Brick Builders from Feb to Mar, 2011 at Toy Building Zone. Across Weber Street, Market Road Antiques has over 100 vendor booths featuring antiques and collectible treasures. The quaint Village of St. Jacobs nearby, is home to fashionable boutiques, cultural and historic exhibits, artists' studios and restaurants - open daily. Kids eat for a toonie at Stone Crock Restaurant during March Break (March 14-18, 2011) details at www.stjacobs.com.

Cosy up at day's end for a comfortable night at Best Western PLUS St. Jacobs Country Inn or Destination Inn & Suites. Make plans to return for the Elmira Maple Syrup Festival on Saturday April 2, and come again May 24-28, 2011 for the Quilt & Fibre Art Festival Waterloo Region & Beyond - 16 quilting events in 6 communities concluding with the legendary New Hamburg Mennonite Relief Sale and Quilt Auction held Saturday May 28. Check the web for details: www.stjacobs.com.

Watching Our Stock...

...is Unusually Relaxing
Things are different here.

It's a gentler place where the "best stock" is likely to be found grazing in fields. And while there are pastoral scenes at every turn, there's no lack of stylish shops, restaurants, theatre, fine hotels and things to do in every season.

SHOP • DINE • STAY & PLAY
Out of the ordinary. Not out of the way.
